BITTER COLD TOO

Winter's Blow Continues With More Snow Possible

Old man winter continued his rampage through Putnam County last night as bitter cold temperatures pushed the mercury down to the zero mark and added to hazardous driving conditions.

Indications are that the severe weather may be slow in letting up as the chance of snow is 50 per cent tonight and Thursday.

National Weather Service forecasts for Northwestern Indiana predict six to 10 more inches snow tonight.

Many county residents spent the New Year inside with the cold temperatures forcing them in.

A light snow fell New Year's Eve but no traffic mishaps were recorded as all county police agencies noted a very quiet night for the city.

Many residents shunned parties for the warmth of their homes and others stayed glued to their TV sets as Notre Dame's Fighting Irish finished off Alabama's Crimson Tide 24-23 in the battle for the national championship in the Sugar Bowl.

State police today listed eight traffic deaths in Indiana for the 102-hour New Year's holiday weekend.

The toll was well under the 18 fatalities predicted by the Indiana Department of Traffic Safety and matched the toll for the 102-hour Christmas weekend.

Both weekends were dominated by poor driving conditions stemming from heavy snow storms plus the holiday closings of many gasoline stations.

State police said no traffic death had been reported in the state since Sunday morning.

Weather

Cloudy with a chance of snow and not as cold tonight and Thursday. Lows tonight in the mid teens. Highs Thursday in the upper 20s. Chances of precipitation 50 per cent tonight and Thursday.

We Shovel Together

Although we may lead different life styles from our neighbors, when the snow hits we all shovel together.

With two big dumpings of the white stuff already experienced by Putnam County residents we should have our aching muscles loosened by now and ready for more snow—unfortunately— as predicted for the area tonight.

Along with stretched muscles we should also have our techniques for shoveling under control.

Techniques vary from the slow, measured pace of the elderly gentleman who must watch-out so that he doesn't overexert himself, to the quick carefree scoops of the young.

Whatever, the technique, though, the goal is the same—moving the white stuff off sidewalks and driveways.

A quick survey around Greencastle Monday showed many residents out-of-doors and pitching in to get snow moved. Uptown merchants scooped sidewalks in front of their places of business to allow shoppers easy footing. Some worked with large scoops designed for shoveling the white stuff, others did the job with brooms or whatever device was available.

Along the streets persons worked by themselves or in groups. Near Franklin Street two adults and two children shoveled in what appeared a team effort with the older scoopers taking one half of a sidewalk and the children working the other.

Further along Franklin Street, one of Greencastle's senior citizens shoveled slowly—pausing every now and again to rest and look over the remainder of his work.

As our survey continued we noticed the automated methods of snow removal.

A young man pushed the white stuff from a parking lot with a plow made from a modified garden tractor.

Another man made quick work of his job with a snow blower which threw the cold stuff several feet to the side as the machine cut a wide swath through the heavy build-up.

In the Greencastle Shopping Center's parking lot another plow worked quickly to remove the snow.

But for all the automation much of the snow removal around homes and sidewalks was done by the lone trooper working his way steadily till the job was done.

One elderly man shoveled slowly, stopped, put his hand on his hips and sighed as he viewed the work still to be done.

"How's it going," we asked.

"Oh all right, I guess," he answered and shook his head.

Although the snow made streets slippery and in some cases impassable here it also added a touch of beauty to the outdoors as shown on an evergreen. The white stuff coated tree limbs with a frosty topping and completed its job of making a winter wonderland of the area.

Schools May Open Tomorrow

All four Putnam County school system superintendents called off school noting the bad road conditions caused by heavy snows in the area.

Added to the effects of the nearly one foot of snow was the bitter cold temperatures of last night.

At last report today, all four superintendents said they are hopeful of reopening schools by Thursday morning.

Elections Return Here

Putnam County residents will find themselves faced with many political decisions to make this year.

Most of the county officers will find their terms expiring.

During the next several months we will be considering candidates for the following offices which carry four year terms: sheriff, county clerk, recorder, county assessor, the second district county commissioner, the 13 township trustees, the Greencastle Township assessor, the seven county council members and the county surveyor.

In addition, we will also elect a judge who will serve for six years and the justices of the peace. The office of prosecuting attorney which is also for six years will be open this year.

With all these offices to be filled, the new election machine and a possible combining of some of the precincts, this election year should prove to be very interesting to all Putnam County citizens.

Rick Ford New Head Coach

Former Cloverdale High School basketball standout Rick Ford, took over recently the head coaching job at Southmont High School near Crawfordsville.

Ford holds many basketball records at the south Putnam County school including a one game record of 53 points. The former cage star also has a career total of 1,386 points.

Following graduation he took over the reigns of the Southmont B-team. Southmont's head coach resigned about two weeks ago and Ford moved up to the top coaching spot.

New Year's Babies

Two young ladies were born New Year's Day at the Putnam County Hospital.

The first little miss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Bryant, Coatesville, Route 1, arrived at 7:31 a.m. The second little girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Huber, Fillmore, Route 1, made her debut at 12:57 p.m.

Ford graduated from Indiana University in 1972, where he played on the school's varsity team. He had been a starter on the Hoosiers.

Firemen On First Run Of Year

Greencastle firemen made their first run of the new year at 7:50 p.m. Tuesday, New Year's Day.

They were called to the Elmer Carver residence at 1103 Avenue C.

They reported that there was a faulty light in the kitchen ceiling but that the fire was out on arrival.

The firemen returned to the station at 8:14 p.m.

Sonya Saunders To Discuss Status Of Energy Crisis Here Thursday At Meeting

Current status of the energy crisis as it affects Indiana will be discussed Thursday by Sonya Saunders, director of Business Education for the Indiana Department of Commerce, when she speaks to the Greencastle Kiwanis Club in the DePauw Union.

Meeting with Kiwanis for the noon luncheon will be members of Greencastle's Rotary Club.

The service club speaker works under Robert Morris, Director of the Indiana Department of Commerce, who spoke to the combined service clubs several months ago on the impending energy crisis.

Jaycees Dance To Be Reset Later This Year, Bemis Says

The Greencastle Jaycees have announced that the youth dance which was to feature the Stones Crossing on Friday, Dec. 21 at the Putnam County Fairgrounds but was canceled due to the heavy snowfall that week will be rescheduled early in the new year.

"We have been in contact with the band to schedule a new date for the dance, but no definite date has been set as yet. It will be either in January or February, though," reported Brad Bemis.

Bible Thought

My son, walk not thou in the way with them; refrain thy foot from their path.—Proverbs 1:15.

We are known by the company we keep. Choose your friends carefully.

Schools Closed Today

All four Putnam county school superintendents have called off school for today, due to bad roads and bitterly cold conditions in the county.

A check with the county highway department revealed that most roads were plowed and "passable" but just passable did not satisfy the superintendents, who were concerned about buses traveling with school children over snow packed roads which had ice underneath.

North Putnam Superintendent Charles Frazee, reported that the roads in his particular district were not even passable, all secondary roads had not been cleared, he said.

South Putnam superintendent, Harold Boone, reported that his district "was calling it off" because too many back roads have not yet been plowed in that area, and bus transportation would be highly questionable. Boone also mentioned the expected bitter cold temperatures today as a factor in his decision, quoting an unofficial report that the thermometer could reach as low as ten below today.

Greencastle Superintendent Frank Ross, agreed with State Police report obtained by the Banner-Graphic, saying that while the main roads are passable, secondary road conditions make bus traffic within his district somewhat hazardous on snow covered, packed down roads. He stated that he hopes to send Greencastle students back to class by tomorrow morning.

Cloverdale Superintendent Arthur Johnson also cited the problem with secondary roads in his area for bus transportation. He said that the parking lot at the school was also blocked by snow, but was hopeful that it would be cleared sometime today.

The complete State Police report on the conditions causing the four district closings was that main roads were "slightly improved" although still somewhat snow packed because of snow which the plows were not able to remove. Secondary roads were "snow covered and packed down."

The cause of the superintendents' dilemma, of course, was the snow which fell recently in the area -11 inches fell Sunday and Monday.

At last report, North Putnam, South Putnam, and Cloverdale also were hopeful of reopening by Thursday morning.

It's Too Bad, But...

New Years Is Over

It's time to throw out all the empty pain reliever bottles and dress our bodies, aching though they be from having shoveled so much snow, and gently comb the hair on our throbbing heads, which have not yet fully recovered from the celebrations of yesterday and Monday night, and go back to work on this, the second day of our new year.

The great snowfall which again drifted our way Sunday and Monday put the freeze on New Year's Eve plans for many people. Many annual dances and private parties were cancelled, making it necessary for people to celebrate at home.

Without all the fancy foods to eat and the old acquaintances to talk to, many people found themselves imbibing even more of the firewater than they usually do on New Year's Eve. Besides, that snow which ruined their plans for sending the old year on its way was very cold, so they had to do something to keep warm.

And many people, having to stay home again New Year's Day because of the pile-up of snow, found themselves with little else to do but watch the football games and have a few more drinks. But when they awoke from their late afternoon naps, they found their heads vibrating out of their wigs. That's when they started their steady diet of pain relievers.

New Year's Eve has always been a night of drinking and celebrating with friends, some of whom we haven't seen since the last New Year's Eve party. People gather from near and far to stage the final and greatest reunion of the year.

Everyone likes to recall the events of years gone by and relive the "good old days." These days differ from person to person, but the purpose served in each case is the same--suddenly we feel younger and more energetic.

And we fill in one another on our latest job changes and family additions and have a good gossip in which the men often out-talk women.

Christmas Day may be the happiest day of the year for children, but for adults, New Year's Eve is definitely the happiest night.

But now the time has come when we must go out into the cold world again--back to our jobs and to the wild January clearance sales. Because no matter how deep the snow is today, the men are ready to get away from the houses filled with noisy voices and clanging toys and the women want to be first in line for some of those sale items. So Good Luck, World! Here we come in this new year--1974.

New Years Eve

Quiet Night Here

A check yesterday with local law enforcement authorities indicated a very quiet New Year's Eve had just passed in Putnam County.

Asked why they thought things had been so quiet, city, county, and state law officers all said that the weather had a great deal to do with the quiet conditions on what is normally the noisiest eve of the year.

The State Police at Putnamville posited that a combination of "cold weather, snow, and the gas shortage" caused the serene evening. An officer stated that "anytime weather causes traffic to slow there is a decline in accidents" and added that the traffic was low because of weather conditions, and that there wasn't a great deal of traffic in the first place.

Greencastle city police said that because of "a lot of snow and a lot of private parties" things were slowed this New Year's Eve. An officer noted that a lot of people had chosen to hold parties on Saturday instead of Monday, this cutting down on holiday riotousness.

The County Sheriff's Office said that the "snow kept people home" and that "nothing was going on because of the weather." The Sheriff also said that because of the cold weather's keeping people indoors the holiday death tolls would be low, probably lower than for the same time of year in 1972.

Nixon Inks Speed Control Measure

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
SAN CLEMENTE, Calif.
(AP) — President Nixon signed into law today a measure aimed at forcing the 50 states to adopt energy-saving speed limits of 55 miles per hour.

Nixon also signed another major bill setting up machinery for reorganizing seven bankrupt Northeastern railroads with federal loan guarantees of $1.5 billion and subsidies of more than $500 million.

Under the speed limit law, states will lose all federal highway funds unless they adopt 55-mile limits within 60 days.

Nixon said in a statement: "I have been gratified and encouraged by the number of states which have already voluntarily reduced their speed limits in accordance with my request . . . estimates indicate that we can save nearly 200,000 barrels of fuel a day by observing a national limit of 55 miles per hour."

In another statement, Nixon said he considered some of the rail subsidies to be higher than they should be. However, he termed the reorganization law "an important turning point in the history of America's railroad industry" and commended Congress "for passing such responsible legislation."

The railroad bill sets up a new United States Railway Association, a nonprofit government corporation, to borrow the $1.5 billion to set up a new rail network under a privately operated Consolidated Rail Corp.

Strap Fails, Pipe Falls

A broken retaining strap is the reported cause of a mishap on the Penn Central railroad Sunday evening when a number of lengths of pipe fell from a freight car adjacent to the Greenbrier Road.

Residents of the Greenbrier neighborhood said that the accident occurred about 7:40 p.m. Sunday. The falling pipes broke a utility pole and a section of the east bound track was damaged, according to witnesses. Pipe was said to be scattered for a mile up the track.

Some Greenbrier residents remained at the scene until the Penn Central tower had been contacted and traffic stopped on the east bound track. Service was reported back to normal Monday afternoon.

Shortage Of Fuel Slows Holiday Traffic Toll Count

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Traffic accidents during the nation during the New Year's weekend claimed 409 lives, a toll which appeared to have been held down by gasoline shortages and the weather.

The last time the holiday was on Tuesday, in 1962, the toll was 382.

Trains Stall; Strand Passengers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
More than 900 passengers aboard four Amtrak passenger trains found themselves at unscheduled stops as part of the New Year's holiday.

A Chicago-to-Denver streamliner carrying 400 passengers was delayed for more than 13 hours Monday night and Tuesday at Galesburg, Ill., after water was mistakenly poured into a diesel fuel tank.

The water froze in the fuel lines in near-zero weather.

The extra stop for an Amtrak turboliner Tuesday was five miles north of Normal, also in central Illinois.

A dispatcher at Bloomington, Ill., the train's last scheduled stop as it headed from St. Louis to Chicago with 90 aboard, said the train apparently ran out of fuel because the engines had been left running Monday night to keep them from freezing.

In Missouri, 120 passengers aboard an Amtrak train en route from Kansas City to New York were stalled for more than 12 hours when the Missouri Pacific locomotives pulling it stopped.

A railroad spokesman said the locomotives ran out of fuel, apparently because of a leak. Two switch engines were sent to rescue the train and pull it into Jefferson City to await replacement engines, but not before the passengers spent several hours in unheated cars in near-zero weather.

On the West Coast, an Amtrak train en route from Sacramento, Calif., to Vancouver, Wash., with 313 aboard braked to an unscheduled stop Tuesday at Klamath Falls, Ore., after a freight train jumped the tracks ahead.

For Walter Schendle, the Klamath Falls stop for the Amtrak train using Southern Pacific rails was trouble on top of trouble.

He explained that he had been aboard another Amtrak train which derailed near Anderson, Calif., last Friday, injuring 84 persons.

"I figured the same thing couldn't happen twice, so I made train reservations to return," Schendle told newsmen.

Gooch On Duty In California

U.S. Air Force Captain David B. Gooch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gooch, R.R. 2, Greencastle, Ind., has arrived for duty at Beale AFB, Calif.

Captain Gooch, a B-52 Stratofortress navigator with a unit of the Strategic Air Command, previously served at Korat Royal Thai AFB, Thailand.

The captain graduated in 1960 from Greencastle High School and was commissioned in 1964 through the aviation cadet program.

one white ticket. I didn't think I had a chance. But I read the numbers as they spoke them and they all matched. I just couldn't believe it."

Mrs. Cooper said that, after having cried from all the excitement all afternoon, she telephoned her husband, Arthur, who has been in Florida with his parents, to share the good news with him and "He didn't believe me. I told him I wouldn't be calling long distance just for a joke, so he finally believed me."

She is waiting for her husband, who is expected back in Greencastle anytime, to go with her to the Jim Harris garage to pick up their new car.

"With the current gas situation the Vega will surely help us," said Mrs. Cooper. Their family car is seven years old and they have two children at home who probably help give it quite a work-out--a 21-year-old daughter and a 17-year-old son.

Congratulations to the Cooper family!

Mrs. Cooper Still "Numb"

Mrs. Betty Cooper of 801 Crescent Drive, the winner of the 1974 Vega, was still feeling "numb" Monday afternoon over the news of her good fortune.

"I'm just thrilled to death. I never had won anything before."

Mrs. Cooper's winning ticket was the first number drawn Saturday afternoon as the long awaited climax of the Greencastle Merchant's contest finally arrived.

"The night before, I went through all my tickets arranging them in numerical order and I wrote on the list the color of the tickets. So when they said the first ticket they drew was a white one, I looked and saw that I had only

Ghost voice hams up reader's life

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Would you like to hear a true, modern ghost story? One evening while sitting alone, I heard a man's voice distinctly. I could find no one inside the house or out. A while later I heard it again. It seemed to come right out of the air. I checked the TV sets. None was on. I was completely bewildered and somewhat frightened.

A few nights later, a neighbor was visiting me and we both heard this man's voice. We searched the house together and discovered the voice was coming from a transistor radio that was turned off!

My "ghost" was a ham radio operator in my neighborhood, broadcasting with such a powerful signal that he kept coming out of everything but the fillings in my teeth. I suppose that's next.

My "ghost" interferes with the reception on my TV, radio, stereo—everything. Some neighbors have told me they have the same trouble. I've written to the FCC in Washington and they have done nothing about it. Can you help me?

HAUNTED IN HOLLYWOOD

DEAR HAUNTED: The next time you hear your "ghost," write down his call letters, and send it in a registered letter of complaint to your regional FCC office. [Federal Building, Los Angeles.] Ask your neighbors who have been similarly annoyed to sign it, and send a registered copy to your ham. He is using improperly shielded equipment, which is against the law, and can be remedied.

The FCC is reluctant to crack down too hard on offending ham operators because in times of emergencies and disasters, these hams provide a wonderful public service [gratis] when all other communications fail.

DEAR ABBY: What should one do about a sister who, upon seeing something of yours she likes, says: "Oh, will you please leave that to me when you die?"

She is your younger sister, and she does that with all of the older brothers and sisters, too. IRKED IN PORTLAND

DEAR IRKED: Tell her you will consider it—if she doesn't die first.

DEAR ABBY: I had my wedding date all set and was given several lovely showers, then I had to cancel my wedding due to a misunderstanding. [My fiancée's wife changed her mind and refused to give him a divorce.] I returned over 100 shower gifts. Suddenly, the whole picture changed when the wife met another man, so now the wedding is rescheduled. I would like to write a little note on the wedding invitations to those who gave me a shower gift asking them to kindly return my shower gift.

When I mentioned this idea to a few of my friends they said I shouldn't do it. Why not? I'm marrying the same man, only the timing is different. RESCHEDULED

DEAR RESCHEDULED: Once a gift is returned it no longer belongs to you. If your friends want to shower you again, they will have to reschedule the showers.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Cal. 90212 for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

The bidding:
West 1♥ Pass
North 2♥ Pass
East 2♥ Pass
South 4♥ Pass

Opening lead - king of hearts.

Let's assume you're in four spades and West cashes the A-K of hearts, then shifts to a trump. You're bound to lose a diamond trick, come what may, but the danger is that you may lose two. Situations like this occur all the time, and the question is how to cope with them.

The one thing you shouldn't do is bank everything on East's having the king of diamonds. It is surely tempting to finesse the queen, but that is something you should do only as a last resort.

First you try to learn where the king is located. In line with this, after winning the trump return, you play the queen of clubs. When West follows low, you of course go up with the ace, making a mental note that East has the king. West presumably would have covered the queen if he had the king.

Next you play a club and ruff it. If East produces the king, which is likely, you have a much better picture of the hand than you had at the start. You may still be unable to make the hand, but at least you know West is the player with the king of diamonds.

This is because he opened the bidding as dealer and could scarcely have done so without the king of diamonds.

Your one hope now is that West was dealt the singleton or doubleton king. If he has three diamonds, you can kiss the hand good-bye.

Accordingly, after another round of trumps, you cash the ace of diamonds, enter dummy with a trump, and lead a diamond. Regardless of what East plays, you duck.

As it happens, West must win with the king, and you wind up making four spades by virtue of careful play.

Wives, Quiz Husbands To Find Out His Understanding Of Social Security

Here's a suggestion for some wives. When your husband comes home late for dinner some night, skip the lecture you had reserved for him and steer the conversation around to social security. Ask him if he knows how much comes out of each pay check for this protection.

Ask him if he knows what he is paying for. See if he can tell you approximately what he will receive at retirement and what Medicare will pay for, or what you and the kids may be entitled to in case of his death. You might ask him if he knows the conditions under which he and the family can draw disability benefits and how much.

Chances are good that he will try to bluff a little, but pin him down if you can. He may admit, finally, that he hasn't the vaguest idea as to the provisions of this most important law which affects you both so directly.

Both your husband and you should know what your stake is in the Social Security program.

Let me try to help — I'm not going to be able to tell you all the things you should know, but I can tell you how to get that information without too much trouble...

The social security office has quite a few publications which explain the program.

Many of you, I'm sure, have tucked away with your insurance policies and other valuable papers, a booklet entitled "Your Social Security." This booklet is like an insurance policy because it explains your rights and responsibilities under social security.

If you do have such a booklet — and it's dated earlier than August 1973, it's out of date, because the program has changed. This little booklet has just been revised to include all recent changes in the law. A copy is yours free for the asking at the social security office. Just ask for the booklet entitled: "Your Social Security."

Another booklet which may serve the needs of some of you better is entitled: "Social Security Information for Young Families." It is illustrated with pictures and charts... We would interpret "Young Families" very liberally and include anyone under age 65... The title of that booklet again is "Social Security Information for Young Families..."

If you are primarily interested in the disability program under social security, the booklet for you is the one entitled "If You Become Disabled." But if you don't remember the title, just ask for a booklet on disability...

For those of you over age 65 and on Medicare, you might want to check your Medicare Handbook and see when it was printed. If the date is earlier than February 1973, you may wish to get an up-to-date one. Just phone the office and ask for a Medicare Handbook and one will be mailed to you. There have been many changes since Medicare began in 1966, and I know some of you still have those original booklets.

You won't remember all the booklets I've mentioned today, but if you want to know something about social security or Medicare, call the social security office and tell us what you want to know. Chances are that one of the many booklets we have will cover the information you want. We're always glad to send you a copy free of charge.

What you don't know, can hurt you.

People Around The World Greet The New Year

By BARTON REPPERT
Associated Press Writer

People around the world greeted the new year with parties, revelry and private resolve to face the challenges of 1974.

About 50,000 celebrants braved rain and chilling winds to gather in New York's Times Square and watch the traditional ball of light descend at midnight New Year's Eve.

Huge billboard and display lights at the midtown Manhattan intersection, previously dimmed to conserve energy, were turned up to full brilliance for the occasion.

Bad weather kept the crowd much smaller than last year's turnout of some 300,000.

Orbiting hundreds of miles above the weather, astronauts aboard Skylab 3 shuttled back and forth 16 times between 1973 and 1974 as they crossed the International Date Line and each of the world time zones every 93 minutes.

Mission Control at the Houston Space Center radioed a variety of New Year's greetings to astronauts Gerald P. Carr, William R. Pogue and Edward G. Gibson as they marked their third holiday in space. They were also aloft on Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Earthbound travelers trying to use highways across the United States yesterday often had to be watchful and patient. They were faced in many areas with a near-total shutdown of gasoline stations.

Officials estimated that up to 95 per cent of the service stations in some areas would be closed until Wednesday morning.

In Israel, troops were on full alert along the Egyptian and Syrian battlefronts while the Jewish state voted in a national election.

Midnight New Year's Eve came and went in Jerusalem without bell-ringing, horn-blowing or other public celebration. Most Israelis observed the new year by the Jewish calendar in September.

In France, New Year's is Re-veillon and tradition called for a midnight super-usually with oysters and pate de fois gras.

The Year of the Tiger reverberated over Japan with the customary 108 gongs to drive away the 108 passions catalogued by Buddhism and with calls to forget material affluence.

Japanese Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka said in a news conference yesterday that 1974 would be a "decisive" year for his government both abroad and domestically. He pledged to take strong steps to fight inflation.

In Mexico, President Luis Echeverria called for "national unity" among all Mexicans and warned them Monday night that 1974 would be a "hard year" of increasing economic problems.

The old year closed in Greece as it began with bitter political bickering.

Gen. Phaedon Gizikis, the new Greek president, strongly defended his November military takeover and looked optimistically to the future. But former government minister George Mavros, in a New Year's statement, said Greece "is heading toward disaster."

The Soviet news agency Tass said in a dispatch from New York that "it is with lack of confidence in the morrow and alarm about the future that millions of Americans are seeing in the New Year." New Year is one of the three chief holidays in Russia.

Britain, beset by numerous economic problems, declared New Year's Day an official holiday for the first time.

In spite of the energy crisis, inflation and other headaches, millions of Americans were finding ways to mark the start of 1974.

Some 1.5 million persons were expected to line the streets in Pasadena, Calif., to watch the Tournament of Roses Parade, with 60 fragrant flower floats to tell what "Happiness Is..." Officials estimated that North America would see the spectacle on television.

In Miami, a crowd of some 600,000 was expected to watch the three-mile-long Orange Bowl parade, featuring 35 floats and 28 marching bands.

Police in Cleveland estimated at least 3,000 revelers turned out for a New Year's Eve celebration in downtown Public Square. There was dancing in the streets to band music during the two-hour extravaganza.

Inmates at Indiana State Reformatory in Pendleton used oranges, other fruit and some unidentified "weird stuff" to concoct what officials called "contraband homemade brew" for an impromptu New Year's Eve party.

Some of the prisoners in one cellblock at the reformatory "got out of hand" during the celebration, according to officials, but order was restored rapidly and damage reported as "quite minor."

Happiness Is ...A Snowflake Wins Sweepstakes Award At Tournament Of Roses Parade

PASADENA, Calif. AP-A float called "Happiness Is...A Snowflake" won the Sweepstakes award yesterday at the 85th annual Tournament of Roses parade, but for more than a million spectators, happiness was the dry weather that followed a night of rain.

A downpour drenched many of the estimated 50,000 persons who camped along the parade route during the night, but streets were nearly dry by the time the nationally televised parade started. Temperatures fell to the low 40s during the night.

In all, some 1.5 million persons lined the streets to watch the procession of 60 flowered floats and 21 marching bands.

The Sweepstakes winner, in competition among noncommercial sponsors, was entered by the City of St. Louis, Mo. It was drawn by Clydesdale horses and depicted a snowy winter scene with four icy trees, falling snow and skates on a real icy pond. The float featured a 10,000 white roses, baby's breath, Queen Anne's lace and starburst chrysanthemums.

The procession of floats took its theme from the title of the book "Happiness Is a Warm Puppy," featuring the "Peanuts" cartoon strip characters. The "Peanuts" creator, Charles Schulz, was grand marshal.

A 22-year-old man was stabbed to death along the parade route about 1 a.m. following a brief scuffle with a group of juveniles, police reported. Dennis Allen of Canoga Park, Calif., was killed and his 3-year-old brother, Raymond, was seriously injured in the incident, which officers said began when someone in the group of youths threw a beer bottle at the younger Allen.

Beame Inaugurated

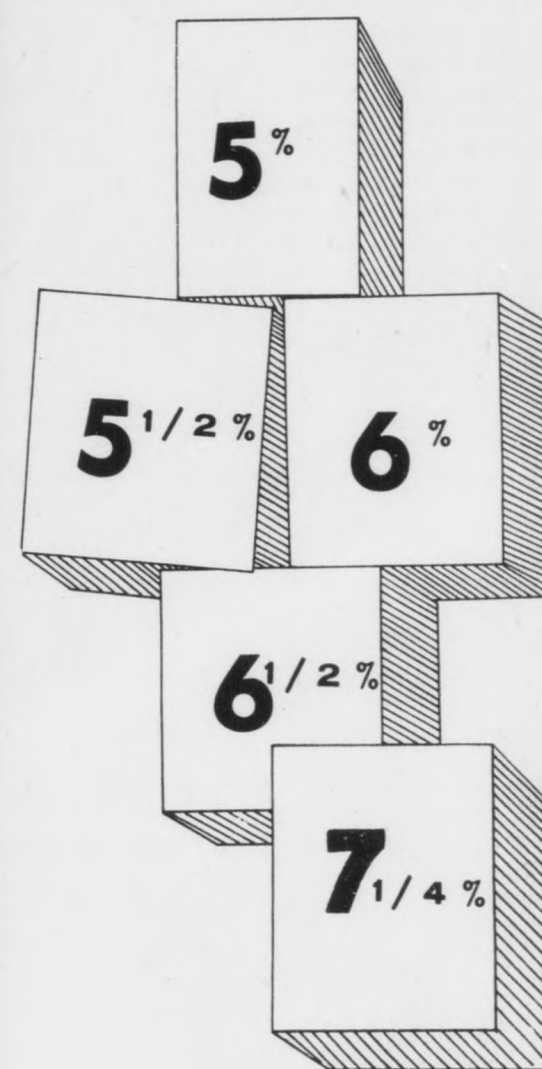

NEW YORK AP-Abraham D. Beame is formally inaugurated at City Hall yesterday as the 104th mayor of New York.

Beame, 67, was sworn in Monday in a modest two-minute ceremony at his Queens apartment six hours before John V. Lindsay's second four-year term as mayor expired at midnight.

Beame becomes the first Jewish mayor of the city, which has more Jewish residents than any other city in the world.

Just as Beame was being sworn in, Lindsay was leaving City Hall for the last time as mayor.

Earlier Monday, Lindsay, 52, entertained two City Hall baseball teams with champagne, poured eggnog for members of his administration and served a tuna fish and tea luncheon for Beame at City Hall.

ZONE WAS KEY: GOLDSBERRY

Eagles Force Cubs To Play Their Ballgame

"Our zone defense was the most important thing, it provided the key to open up our win," said South Putnam Coach, Tom Goldsberry, discussing his Eagles win Saturday night against the Greencastle Tiger Cubs, 70-64.

Forcing Greencastle to play their game, the Eagles were in, coach Goldsberry's words able "to dictate the game ourselves, and get the job done when it needed to be done."

Speaking to the problem of combating Greencastle's tough defense, the coach noted that "causing them (the Cubs) to commit several turnovers against our zone, they (the Cubs) couldn't get underneath and move that ball around. This tactic especially limited Newsom."

Using good defense, cutting off Greencastle's passing, and utilizing the good size on the Eagles team, South Putnam managed to win the tourney championship and wind up the first one-third of their season with a good record. The Eagles are now 8-1.

Next playing Linton, Jan. 4, there, Coach Goldsberry added that the concern now is to "play fundamentally sound and keep in shape."

Greencastle Coach, Bob Shelton, commenting on the Cubs' first loss of the season said, "South Putnam came into the game playing a good zone defense, and we weren't executing against that offense as we might have. Not getting the results we should have, we pressed too much during the second half and just played into their (Eagles) hands."

"And though Sibbitt and Burdge had four fouls each the first half, we weren't able to catch-up, and get the results we wanted," the coach added.

Shelton sees the South Putnam zone defense as mainly the key to their win, as the Eagles were able to "play their game as far as our defense."

Coach Shelton noted that the loss Saturday was disappointing, but not discouraging as the contest was a close match, and the Cubs have finished up the first one-third of their season in good shape. The Cubs are now 6-1.

Greencastle next plays Plainfield, Jan. 4 here.

Ohio St. Buckeyes Beat USC, 42-21

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Pete Johnson, a huge freshman fullback blasted for three touchdowns, Ohio State added a passing attack by Cornelius Greene and the Buckeyes whipped Southern California 42-21 Tuesday, ending the Big Ten's four-game losing streak in the Rose Bowl.

Neal Colvie added his part with a 56-yard punt return to the Trojan nine late in the third period and four plays later Greene sprinted off his right tackle from a yard out, putting his club ahead to stay.

Until that point, the Buckeyes had trailed 21-20 despite two touchdown plunges of one yard and one of four by the 238-pound Johnson, a first-year powerhouse from Long Beach, N.Y.

After Greene's touchdown, the Buckeyes became even more explosive. First came a 52-yard drive in five plays, a Greene-to-Brian Baschnagel pass gaining 25 and Archie Griffin running another 25 before Bruce Elia plunged in from the two for the touchdown. Greene ran in that conversion for two points.

Minutes later, Griffin broke loose on a 47-yard touchdown run.

Griffin, the fleet running ace of the Buckeyes, set a Big Ten season record as he pushed his total to 1,577 yards. He gained 149 Tuesday.

So the Buckeyes justified the vote of the Big Ten athletic directors who sent the No. 4 nationally-ranked club to Pasadena instead of Michigan after the two undefeated clubs tied 10-10 in their final regular-season game.

A year ago, the Buckeyes had lost 42-17 to the national-champion Trojans, who this year were ranked seventh nationally by The Associated Press with a 9-1-1 record. The Buckeyes came to Pasadena for this 59th renewal of college football's oldest post-season classics with a 9-0-1 showing.

Little Chris Limahelu booted a pair of field goals for the Trojans of 47 and 42 yards, the longest of his career. Jake McKay, son of Trojan Coach John McKay, caught a 10-yard touchdown pass from Anthony Davis and Davis ran one yard for the second Trojan touchdown before a full-house crowd of 105,267.

Quarterback Pat Haden passed to McKay for a two-point conversion and Limahelu added one kicking.

The Trojans clung to their 21-20 lead when Charles Phillips blocked Blair Conway's third conversion attempt.

Although it had rained during the night, the field was dry for the game, which was played under intermittent clouds.

The Big Ten built its over-all Rose Bowl record to 18-10 since its pact with the Pac-8 started in 1947.

However, during the past 10 years, the Pac-8 had dominated with a 7-3 record and the Midwesterners put Coach Woody Hayes and his Buckeyes firmly on the spot to end that recent domination and return prestige to the Big Ten.

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP) — Winged Foot's West Course will measure 88 yards longer for the 1974 U.S. Open than it played for the 1959 Open when Billy Casper won. The course for next June 13-16 will stretch 6,961 yards. Host pro Claude Harmon figures the course will play half a stroke tougher per round for 1974.

Par will be 70 but Harmon predicts the winning score for four rounds will be 282. Harmon won the 1948 Masters title.

Nebraska Takes

19-3 Victory

In Cotton Bowl

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP) — Senior quarterback Steve Runtz came off the bench to fire Nebraska's balky offense in the second half, and touchdowns by Ritch Bahe and Tony Davis gave the Cornhuskers a 19-3 Cotton Bowl victory Tuesday over puncheon Texas.

The underdog 12th-ranked Cornhuskers fell victim to two brilliant Texas goal-line stands in the first half and the eighth-ranked Longhorns went to the locker room with a 3-3 tie although they made only three first downs.

Two big plays by safety Bob Thornton set up Runtz's heroics.

Thornton made a leaping interception of Marty Atkins' wobbly pass in the Cornhusker end zone to thwart a Texas drive at

Notre Dame Beats Alabama 24-23 In Sugar Bowl

By HERSHEL NISSESON
NEW ORLEANS AP-Has
Notre Dame returned to the top of the college football world by the margin of a missed extra point?

"Certainly," said Coach Ara Parseghian. What was the final score?"

It was 24-23, Notre Dame over Alabama in a super Sugar Bowl Monday night, and it put the storied South Bend, Ind., gridiron citadel in the driver's seat to capture its first national college football championship since 1966.

"We missed an extra point, too," Parseghian noted, "but we went for two points the next time we scored and we won the game.

In my opinion, we've won the national championship and we won it without starting out with the national recognition that some other teams had."

The national champion will be announced Thursday when The Associated Press releases its final poll. The margin of victory was decided when Bill Davis, for three years an outstanding placekicker and successful on 51 of 53 extra points during the regular season, - booted the conversion attempt to the right of the goal posts following a razzle-dazzle touchdown that put Alabama on top 23-21 with 9:39 left.

The trick play, which Notre Dame pulled itself against Southern California several years ago, featured a handoff from quarterback Richard Todd to halfback Mike Stock and a return pass to Todd.

But the third-ranked Fighting Irish, a one-touchdown underdog, stormed back and marched from their own 19-yard line to the Alabama two. Bob Thomas, who missed the extra point after Notre Dame's first touchdown in the opening period, kicked a 19-yard field goal with 4:26 remaining for the deciding points.

They also won it on freshman Al Hunter's record 93-yard kickoff return just 13 seconds after Alabama fumble in the third quarter; on a supreme effort by a fired-up defense that held the Crimson Tide's awesome rushing attack to 190 yards-176 under its per-game average-and on two daring long passes in the closing minutes.

The first was a 30-yard lob from Tom Cements to tight end Dave Casper, who outfought two defenders at the Alabama 15, setting up Thomas' winning field goal. The second was a 35-yarder on third down from Clements to tight end Robin Weber which took the Irish from the ominous shadow of their goal line to the 38 with a half-minute left and enabled them to run out the clock.

Cotton Bowl

the start of the third quarter.

On the next series, Thornton returned a missed Texas field goal 41 yards and Runty, who replaced junior David Humm, took charge.

The Cornhuskers, runners-up in the Big Eight Conference, went 59 yards in eight plays for the go-ahead score. Runty hit wingback Bahe with a 17-yard pass on a key third down to the Texas 14. Two plays later, Bahe bolted 12 yards for the score on an inside reverse.

Nebraska nose guard John Bell fell on a Texas fumble at the Longhorn 19 on the next 'Horn possession and Davis rammed three yards for the touchdown.

Nebraska's stout defense smothered Texas' Wishbone T offense. Texas All America fullback Roosevelt Leaks, who had averaged 141 yards per game, was held to 48 yards on 13 carries.

The victory was a sweet one for freshman Nebraska Coach

Tom Osborne, whose team had suffered a humiliating 27-0 loss to Big Eight champion Oklahoma on Thanksgiving Day.
Nebraska finished the season with a 9-2-1 record.

The Longhorns, champions of the Southwest Conference, completed the season at 8-3.

Texas linebacker Wade Johnston made four consecutive tackles at the Longhorn one-yard line to stop Nebraska cold at the end of the first half.

Billy Schott kicked a 22-yard field goal for Texas in the first quarter and Nebraska's Rich Sanger matched it with a 24-yarder in the second period.

Crisis Group Answers Help Calls

By MICHAEL W. MILLICAN BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP) — A rapist brought together a group trying to help women who've been sexually assaulted cope with the medical, emotional and legal problems they suddenly face. "Our committee began because one of us had a rape experience. This was the catalyst for this woman and her friends," says Virginia Auster, one of eight members of the Citizen Committee on Rape Concern, which is forming a rape crisis center in Bridgeport. "We want to help the victim in whatever way is useful," Ms. Auster said. "We have lawyers who are prepared to be helpful and we've got a psychiatrist who's a consultant."

The group recently set up a 24-hour telephone number rape victims can call for help. But so far no one has used the number in a crisis situation. "We're prepared to go at three o'clock in the morning," she said, and do what the victim needs, which could include going with her to the emergency room or the police or just talking about her problem. Bridgeport police have recorded 14 rapes since January 1973, Ms. Auster said. But she added that a person doing social work at the Father Panik housing project told her there probably were three or four sexual assaults each week at the village. She wouldn't say who made the estimate.

"We know from experiences in other places that what's reported is the tip of the iceberg," she said. The committee member who was raped didn't report the attack to the police, she added.

"Generally, rape victims in the courts are given a very hard time. Police interrogation procedures and hospital procedures also are rough on a woman who's been raped."

The raped woman faces skeptical police who must determine whether the accusation is legitimate or made out of pique, she said. If the case goes to court, she added, the defendant's attorney will scrutinize her entire life and sexual history, trying to show that the man was enticed or provoked by the woman.

Police Capt. Anthony F.

Copacabana Palace Hotel In Rio Hits 50-year Mark

By BRUCE HANDLER Associated Press Writer RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Rio's famous Copacabana Palace Hotel — once a meeting spot for itinerant kings and temperamental movie stars — is quietly celebrating its 50th anniversary. The old gray edifice is more likely these days to be host to a businessman from New York or Tokyo than a countess or an artist. But the Copa is still very much in business, despite increasing competition from flashy modern hotels.

When the Copacabana Palace opened in 1923 it was the first big building in Copacabana, a Rio residential neighborhood with 2 1/2 miles of spectacular beachfront along the open Atlantic. The hotel quickly became a gathering place for the "beautiful people" of that era and helped put this tropical South American city on the international tourist circuit. During the 1930s and early '40s gambling was legal in Brazil, and the hotel had its own casino. The maitre d' wore tails. Guests were required to dress up at night: long gowns for the women and dark suits for the men. King George VI of England, Clark Gable and Rita Hayworth stayed at the Copa. Nat "King" Cole packed revelers into the Golden Room, the hotel's nightclub. Bing Crosby and Bob STILL GOING—Mrs. Mariazinha Guinle, owner and manager of Rio's Copacabana Palace, stands outside the famous hotel, which is celebrating its 50th anniversary and is still doing well despite competition from bigger and more modern hotels.

Hope used the hotel as the scene for much of the action in their movie, "The Road to Rio." King Carol II of Romania lived in exile in the Copacabana Palace during the World War II. Brazil outlawed gambling in 1946, but the Copa remained a highlight of the international social scene. Orson Welles once tossed the furniture out of the window of his room during an artistic tantrum. Jayne Mansfield created a sensation by "losing" the top to her bikini in the hotel's pool.

Today, the casino is no more. The maitre d' makes do with just a tuxedo. The Golden Room is often closed, because Brazilian entrepreneurs can't match the fees top entertainers get in Las Vegas and London. You don't even have to wear a tie any more to get into the Copacabana Palace dining room. Copacabana is now a maze of concrete, with competing Brazilian hotels towering over the eight-story Copa. Sheraton, Inter-Continental and Air France-Meridien have begun building luxury hotels in Rio. Hilton has its spot picked out further down Copacabana Beach.

"I believe there will be enough business for everyone," predicted Mariazinha Guinle, the owner and president of the Copacabana Palace and widow of the hotel's founder. "At many other hotels the guests are treated like numbers. In they come, and out they go," she told a foreign correspondent. "But here, the employees know the guests' personal habits and treat them as though they were in their own homes. Our guests always come back. Why, we've got 15 people on our staff who have been working for us for more than 40 years."

There are persistent reports that foreign hotel chains have offered fabulous sums — the latest story, in a newspaper gossip column, mentioned $30 million — for the Copacabana Palace. "There are many rumors," Mrs. Guinle said. "But I'm not thinking of selling. In fact, we're repainting the entire hotel, putting in new carpets and a modern telephone switchboard and remodeling the swimming pool."

The Guinles are one of the richest families in Latin America. When the Copa's founder, Otavio Guinle, died in 1953, Mariazinha could easily have spent the rest of her days as a free-spending jet setter. "My husband wanted me to continue with the hotel," the slender, brown-haired proprietress declared. "I tried it and became interested in the hotel business. Besides, it's better to be doing something useful than just traveling all the time."

'Hybrid' Auto Uses Battery

MIDDLEBURY, Conn. (AP) — Don't be surprised if E. Robert Horwinski's compact car sounds normal one day but makes no noise while running the next day. He designed it to run up to a point on noiseless battery power, which causes no pollution, and then to shift to gasoline power when the batteries run down. Horwinski, General Dynamics' former chief of European operations, conceived the "hybrid" car as an answer to the range limitations of a solely electrical vehicle.

While displaying it during a two-day symposium at the University research center the Cheshire, Conn., resident explained how it would work. "You're stopped at a traffic light in the city. Nothing is running. You push down and you drive away on electricity," he told spectators. "Then you get out on the road and as soon as the batteries are half discharged, the gasoline engine starts automatically." Horwinski has also designed his car so that any unneeded power developed by the engine is converted to electricity and stored in the batteries. Batteries occupy the place where the transmission is usually located and power from them and the gas engine is fed straight to the drive wheels.

While the basic Chevelle car he uses still contains the original 165-horsepower engine, he wants to replace it with a smaller one, such as a three-cylinder type used in a French compact. The smaller engine, he said, works constantly at optimum speed, providing maximum power with minimum pollution. When the car is stopped outdoors, the engine could be kept running to recharge the batteries. Back in the garage the batteries could be plugged into an electrical supply for recharging.

The maximum speed and range of the car under electrical power are 35 miles per hour for one hour. Powered by the small gas engine, the car could call on its electric supply if needed for a hill or passing, Horwinski said. Another device that Horwinski created can convert braking power on downhill runs to electrical power for the batteries. He claims that up to 85 per cent of the power used to go up hill can be recovered on the downgrade. The inventor has filed for patents on his various devices that make up the hybrid car. He said low-speed tests so far have been favorable, and he expects the same for top-speed operation, which he hopes will be about 90 miles per hour.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Nila's complaint merits nationwide attention. But she needs to imitate Frog No. 2, as described below. Remember, it is wise to make good resolutions, but then bolster them by such aids as that booklet below. It can help kiddies speak correct English quickly.

CASE Z-515: Nila B., aged 32, has 3 youngsters. "Dr. Crane," she began, "I have tried to offer them good English so they will make better grades at school. "But even their teachers use 'real' for 'very' as by telling them to 'be real good.' "TV and radio announcers also fail to cooperate with us parents, for they keep emphasizing incorrect grammar. "At present, the newspapers offer the best grammar for children, but kiddies seldom read much beyond the comic pages, at least till they reach the middle teens.

"So I wonder if it isn't a hopeless task for parents to launch our kiddies on good English when supposedly educated leaders sabotage us by constantly employing the most common errors!

THE FROG STORY

Parents, please don't give up the fight for better English, as well as for higher moral ideals! Just remember the story of the two frogs which got into a farmer's empty 10 gallon milk can. Not noticing them on the bottom, the farmer filled the can within a few inches of the top. Frog No. 1 soon tried to hop out but he had nothing solid on which to crouch, for the start of his leap. So he finally gave up and sank to the bottom, where he soon died. But Frog No. 2 refused to surrender to death, so he kept splashing up and down in the top layer of milk. Soon a thick layer of cream rose to the surface. And the continued agitation thereof by the frog's leaps finally churned a large pat of butter. So the exhausted frog then climbed upon the floating butter and after catching its breath, it leaped over the edge of the large milk can to freedom! Moral: Keep struggling for the right!

pulling down morals and correct English, good music and other products of man's idealistic brain. Our job as intelligent human beings is to be constantly vigilant in resisting inertia, evil and vulgarity. "Eternal vigilance," Jefferson also warned, "is the price of freedom."

"You have a Republic," also cautioned Ben Franklin as he was leaving our Constitutional Convention, "if you can keep it!"

Children can learn good habits just as easily as bad habits, IF.

And that big "IF" means, if they are surrounded by the correct language, idealistic stories, good music and morality!

Pope Paul VI says a real Satan is alive on this earth, with millions of his evil assistants, to battle the righteous, so keep fighting, like that 2nd frog.

And send for my booklet "How to Raise Your Child's School Marks," listing the "Commonest Errors in English," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents. Resolve today to give your children a running head start for higher grades in high school and college. Pay your kiddies a penny whenever they detect an incorrect use of grammar on the part of you parents, teachers or TV and radio announcers. This booklet can soon make your grammar schoolers talk more correctly than the usual college graduate, who still is guilty of constant grammatical errors every day!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)
